Profile

I'm a freelance motion designer based in London. I have over 6 years professional experience working with agencies, production companies, brands and design studios. I can take a project through from initial design concepts to delivery, working on my own or with a team. Over the past six years I've worked on a variety of different projects including film UI, brand films, online and broadcast content. Bringing creative ideas to life and telling a story with the work I produce is something I am passionate about.

Experience

Motion Graphics Designer at Mark Phillips Motion Design

September 2016 - Present

Freelance motion graphic designer specialising in 2D and 3D animations and artwork for film, broadcast, and online. Clients include: Territory Studios, B-Reel, BT Sport, Discovery Channel, Noah Media Group.

Motion Graphics Designer at UEFA

July 2015 - September 2016

At UEFA I assisted the internal and additional programming team with graphics requirements. I developed and conceptualized motion graphics for promotional videos which were in line with brand identities, such as the Champions League, Europa League, UEFA Foundation and more. I also worked on-site during Euro 2016 in Paris where I had to work with producers to create graphic treatments and animations for promo videos for each game during the six-week tournament.

Motion Graphics Designer at Big Button

January 2013 - July 2015

While working for this award winning video production company I was responsible for communicating and executing visual ideas, working from a detailed brief and delivering high quality design work and animation at all times. I was also responsible for systems management and the archiving process of our projects.
